

Paradise All Year Round

Barbara Reinisch's experience and love for business and asset consultancy, together with Andreas Reinisch's passion in holistic economy, people, nature and sustainability created the hotel of their dreams. Golden Hill the multi-award winning Hideawayshotel is situated in Styria, Southern Austria, close to Graz and it is surrounded by a magnificent view over the hill, capturing nature's beauty from many angles.

Golden Hill is not just any hotel, it is made up of six exclusive country chalets and one luxury panorama loft, designed specially to create the best experience with the aims of helping you reach deep relaxation during your stay. There is something magical about Golden Hills and the beautiful land that surrounds it, Barbara and Andreas have done an incredible job at designing and bringing to life a space that reflects harmony and calmness throughout.

They believe that hospitality is more than a profession, instead it is a true vocation to show love and care. This heart-warming perspective is reflected throughout Golden Hill from the interior design to the layout and composition of the spacious garden with the 600 sqm swimming pond, which creates the perfect place to relax and spend time with those you love most. Whether it is a friends get away, a couple's weekend away or a family holiday, it invites love in and nourishes it by providing a space where incredible memories are made. Nothing beats enjoying nature's essence while being with those who fill your life with so much happiness. An all year round paradise, also for long stays.

Anything that you ever need Barbara and Andreas will make it happen, from private dining in the chalet, to a private SPA experience, wine tasting in the properties cellar, clay pigeon shooting, a helicopter flight, or a balloon ride over the Southern Styria rolling hills. There is so much to enjoy, no matter the weather, Golden Hill can be enjoyed even in the colder months. The swimming pools are heated so in white winter days you can enjoy a sunset dip, before cuddling up to a log fire to end the day.

A huge aspect of the stay is the beauty that surrounds it, to enjoy it, it is important to respect it and care for it. This is something that was important to the owners when designing Golden Hill, so they implemented a system that enables the resort to generate over half of its own electricity. And much more. They set new standards and perfectly combine luxury and sustainability.

Recently, Golden Hill has been recognised by the Leaders in Luxury Awards 2023 with Most Romantic Luxury Retreat 2023 – Styria. It comes to no surprise given the effort and love that both the owners have poured into the resort. We look forward for them to continue providing high quality service in a magical location to many more people, so they can experience bliss and peace with those they love most.
